SYNOPSIS: Charlotte, a mother of a newborn, is also a hired killer who killed her own husband under the request of her boss --Bill. The new motherhood of Charlotte indeed distracts her from being an excellent killer and she makes mistakes in the task. Struggling in maintaining the two contradictory identities, Charlotte reveals her appalling job to Ray—a clerk in convenience store who has a good relationship with Charlotte--but Ray doesn't buy it. After returning to home, what awaits Charlotte are a suitcase with leaking blood, and her uninvited boss --Bill, who threatens to kill her baby if the same mistake has been made again. To prove that she can handle the two spheres of her life equally well, Charlotte decides to assassinate Bill in his favorite restaurant...

CHARACTER BREAKDOWN:

The leading actress (Charlotte) should be experienced in film acting, have a good understanding of film blocking and well handle both the cruelty of a killer and the tenderness of a mother. The character, as a killer, should be a slim and fit Caucasian woman between 22-30 years old. (Role Model: Rooney Mara in The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo)

Compensation: Leading Actress (Charlotte): $100/day
