

A major television network is casting for an in-depth docu-series about teens in crisis.

We are looking for young women, ages 15-18 who are dealing with difficult, life-changing decisions such as relationship drama, pregnancy, family disputes. If you are currently dealing with something that is causing conflict or confusion in your life, we want to hear from you. We are looking for young women from all backgrounds who would like to share their personal story.

Email us and explain in detail how your current crisis is affecting your life.

Please send:

- Paragraph about how your current situation is affecting your life
- Your name
- Your Age
