

LAWRENCE V.O.

We sat there in that spot for so long. Eventually we made our ways to the bed and we just held each other. He cried, I cried, until neither one of us had anymore tears left in us. That day our love was tested. That day it push through any boundaries that either one of us had.

David and Aaliyah sits on the couch.

DAVID

Its like I see him everywhere. He talks to me. He touches me. Its like I'm back to that place that I escaped from. Like he's haunting me. He trying to make me go crazy. Im not crazy I'm not. I just want the noise to go away. I want It all to just stop.

DR. JORDAN

Its important that you realize where you are and understand that no matter what you once loved this man. And you have simply ran away from all those feelings and emotions. Just like any lost you have to grieve. You have to allow yourself the space to understand your feelings. David what you went through was traumatic. But you have to work through the trauma and heal.

DAVID

And how do I do that.

DR. JORDAN

Sometimes we have to face our Demons. Talk to him just like he talks to you. All of these moments are in your subconscious.

AALIYAH

They have't had the funeral yet. Do you think that would help.

DR. JORDAN

Maybe but its really about David acknowledging the truth of the situation. If you think that will help you then you do that. But you have to really know that you can control yourself and function. We don't need you having an panic attack. Seeing someone lying there breaks the strongest. Take it one day a time. Don't do what you are not ready for as that could be detrimental to healing process. Just know you are not alone.
