

In Scooter's lab, a lesson awaits
About syllables, we'll learn their traits
Sissy's eager, ready to explore
The secrets of words, there's so much more

Open syllables, they end with a vowel sound
Like "go" and "hi", they're all around
Closed syllables, a twist they bring
With consonants after, a different thing

Words split apart with each sound we learn
Their structures discover, a new world to turn
In Scooter's lab, knowledge takes some time
Open and closed, you can also make a rhyme
